MOTION TO COMPEL,

INSPECTION

(Expedited Relief Requested)

Plaintiff/Contestant ("Plaintiff") hereby files this Motion to Compel, or Motion for Continued Inspection.

On Tuesday, December 1, 2020, representatives of Plaintiffs, Defendants, and Intervenor Hobbs attended an inspection of ballots at the Maricopa County Tabulation and Election Center ("MCTEC"). The inspection of "duplicate" ballots began at around 4:30 PM (shortly after the

1 court hearing on Defendants’ request to exclude credentialed observers). The inspection
2 concluded at around 6:00 P.M., with one credentialed observer and undersigned counsel present
3 and observing the review of duplicate ballots, on behalf of Plaintiff. (Counsel Gonski and Desai
4 were present on behalf of Defendants and Intervenor Hobbs, respectively.)

5 Of the one hundred (100) duplicate ballots that were inspected and compared to their 6 “originals,” a ballot was identified where the original was clearly a vote for Trump, and the 7 duplicate ballot switched the vote to Biden.

8 A second ballot was also identified on which the original ballot was clearly a vote only 9 for Trump, but the duplicate ballot had a vote for both Trump and a “blank” write-in candidate, 10 causing the “Trump” vote to be cancelled (due to an “over-vote”).

11 There were no errors observed in the sample which granted a vote to Trump, or which 12 cancelled out a Biden vote.

13 Given the extremely small sample size – and the fact that candidates Trump and Biden 14 are apart by less than one half of one percent apart in the official statewide canvas (0.03%, or 15 zero point zero three percent)<sup>1</sup> – a prima facie error rate of two percent against Trump alone is 16 obviously of serious concern.<sup>2</sup>

17 Plaintiff therefore asks the Court to order that the inspection of duplicate ballots continue,
18 on a larger scale (of more ballots, e.g. 2,500), and that a trial of the matter be continued pending 19 its result.

22 <sup>1</sup> According to the Secretary of State’s canvass, there were 3,333,829 total votes cast statewide 23 for candidates Trump and Biden (1,661,686 for Trump, 1,672,143 for Biden).

24 <sup>2</sup> With respect to the separate analysis of one hundred signed ballot envelopes – two handwriting
25 experts attended, along with lawyers. The result of that analysis appears to be that around eight 26 to ten percent of the mail-in ballots had “inconclusive” matches – which is not to say that the signatures were invalid or fraudulent, simply that the experts cannot say to a professional standard one way or the other, apparently because there were too few signatures on file.

1 On average, it took around only one minute for each duplicate ballot to be reviewed, by a
2 single observer. (As briefly discussed in the Tuesday “discovery” hearing, the county just made 3 one table/computer available for the review.) With a team of five observers, a larger twenty-five 4 hundred (2,500) sample could be reviewed in a single day (eight hours. Plaintiff actually brought 5 a team of five observers to this inspection; but again, the county accommodated only one ballot
6 being inspected at a time).

7 As of this writing, the county has not committed to what the total number of duplicate
8 ballots is for Maricopa County. Further, the total number of duplicate ballots statewide is 9 unknown. Plaintiff asks that the Court order the Secretary of State to produce that information, 10 to the extent known or knowable. If the number of statewide duplicate ballots is significant, as 11 Plaintiff believes, then Plaintiff asks to perform a reasonable inspection of duplicate ballots 12 statewide.

13 Finally, to the extent that the Court remains concerned about whether additional 14 discovery will impinge on the so-called “safe harbor” date of December 8th in 3 U.S.C. § 5 (the 15 date that was discussed during the Monday hearing, and also the subject of much discussion in 16 Bush v. Gore) – a short legal brief and argument on the issue follows (which will also be 17 repeated in Plaintiff’s Proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law):

18 The “Safe Harbor” Date

19 The so-called “safe harbor” date of December 8th, 2020 is “not serious” enough to defeat
20 further inquiry into the validity of the ballots. Bush v. Gore, 531 U.S. 98, 130 (2000)(Souter, J., 21 dissenting). If that date were to pass without a resolution of this case, then Arizona “would still 22 be entitled to deliver electoral votes Congress must count unless both Houses find that the votes
23 ‘ha[d] not been regularly given.’” Id., 531 U.S. at 143 (emphasis original). Further, in contrast to 24 the State of Florida in Bush v. Gore, neither Arizona’s legislature nor its courts have expressed a 25 “wish” that Arizona must resolve judicial disputes regarding the selection of presidential electors
26

1 by the federal “safe harbor” date—to the contrary, Arizona’s statute regarding the selection of 2 presidential-electors, A.R.S. § 16 212, merely states that electors shall cast their vote “[a]fter the 3 secretary of state issues the statewide canvass containing the results of a presidential election.”
4 A.R.S. § 16-212(B). Also, while December 14th is the date under federal law for presidential 5 electors to “meet and give” their vote in each state, which is then transmitted to Congress
6 (3 U.S.C. §§ 7, 9, 11) – and while the “fourth Wednesday in December,” i.e. December 23rd, is 7 the date on which Congress must “request the state secretary of state to send a certified return
8 immediately” if Congress has not already received those votes (3 U.S.C. § 12) – “none of these 9 dates has ultimate significance in light of Congress’ detailed provisions for determining, on ‘the 10 sixth day of January,’ the validity of electoral votes.” Bush, 531 U.S. at 143 (Ginsburg, J., 11 dissenting); see also 3 U.S.C. § 15. In other words, the only deadline of any practical
12 significance is January 6th, which is when Congress actually meets to count the electoral votes 13 (and even after that, there is the “truly” final constitutional deadline of January 20th for 14 inauguration of the President, per the 20th Amendment).

15 So the bottom line is: even if a final judicial decision comes after the “safe harbor” date
16 of December 8th, then the court’s decision “must” still stand, unless there is (1) a formal
17 objection to it in the U.S. Congress (by both a Senator and Representative), and (2) both Houses 18 of Congress determine that the electors’ vote was not “regularly given.” See 3 U.S.C.A. § 15.
19 For both Houses of Congress to agree to set aside the Court’s ruling would be an unlikely, 20 unprecedented, and – for the reasons that follow – unconstitutional act.

21 Article II, Section 1, clause two of the United States Constitution expressly vests 22 authority in the State legislature to appoint presidential electors “in such Manner as the 23 Legislature thereof may direct.” The federal statutes at issue – 3 U.S.C. §§ 7, 9, 11 – 24 unconstitutionally infringe on the power of the State legislature to direct the “manner” of 25 appointing presidential electors, including when they are applied to create “deadlines” on the 26

1 appointment of electors and on the resolution of presidential-electoral disputes that interfere with 2 deadlines that the legislature has already set for election contests under Arizona law.
3 A.R.S. §§ 16-676, -677 provide that the Court shall set a time for the hearing of an election
4 contest within ten days of the certification of the vote (which just happened Monday); that 5 “either party may have the ballots inspected before preparing for trial”; that “[t]he court shall 6 continue in session to hear and determine all issues arising in contested elections”; and that 7 “[a]fter hearing the proofs and allegations of the parties, and within five days after the 8 submission thereof, the court shall file its findings and immediately thereafter shall pronounce 9 judgment...” Where the result of the federal statutes is to hold a trial within only three days of 10 the contest being filed, with a very limited opportunity for an inspection of ballots, Congress has 11 unconstitutionally infringed on the right of the state legislature to direct the “manner” in which 12 presidential electors are chosen.

13 Finally, “[d]ue process requires that a party have an opportunity to be heard at a 14 meaningful time and in a meaningful manner.” McClung v. Bennett, 225 Ariz. 154, 156, 235 P.3d
15 1037, 1039 (2010); U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 14. Again, to hold a trial within only three days of a 16 major elections contest being filed—and with the opportunity to inspect only hundreds out of 17 millions of ballots—denies Plaintiff the opportunity to be meaningfully heard.
