Defendants

Verified Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief

Plaintiffs Rebecca Brooks, Stuart Abel, III, James Martin, III, and Nicole Martin (collectively “Voters”) complain as follows:

Introduction

1. This is a civil action for declaratory and injunctive relief concerning violations of Voters’ voting and equal-protection rights by election officials’ inclusion of illegal Presidential Elector results in certain counties, which inclusion unlawfully dilutes Voters’ lawful votes and requires invalidation of those presidential-election results in counties with evidence that sufficient illegal ballots were included in the results to change or place in doubt the results of the November 3, 2020 presidential election in this state.

2. Voters seek a remedy excluding presidential-election results from such counties in the certification activities for Presidential Electors described in 3 U.S.C. § 6:

It shall be the duty of the executive of each State, as soon as practicable after the conclusion of the appointment of the electors in such State by the final ascertainment, under and in pursuance of the laws of such State providing for such ascertainment, to communicate by registered mail under the seal of the State to the Archivist of the United States a certificate of such ascertainment of the electors appointed, setting forth the names of such electors and the canvass or other ascertainment under the laws of such State of the number of votes given or cast for each person for whose appointment any and all votes have been given or cast; and it shall also thereupon be the duty of the executive of each State to deliver to the electors of such State, on or before the day on which they are required by section 7 of this title to meet, six duplicate-originals of the same certificate under the seal of the State; and if there shall have been any final determination in a State in the manner provided for by law of a controversy or contest concerning the appointment of all or any of the electors of such State, it shall be the duty of the executive of such State, as soon as practicable after such determination, to communicate under the seal of the State to the Archivist of the United States a certificate of such determination in form and manner as the same shall have been made; and the certificate or certificates so received by the Archivist of the United States shall be preserved by him for one year and shall be a part of the public records of his office and shall be open to public inspection; and the Archivist of the United States at the first meeting of Congress thereafter shall transmit to the two Houses of Congress copies in full of each and every such certificate so received at the National Archives and Records Administration.

Sufficient Evidence Exists to Place in Doubt Presidential-Election Results in Key Counties

33. There exists sufficient evidence to place in doubt the November 3 presidential-election results in identified key counties. Some of that evidence follows.

34. Voting machines crashed in Georgia’s Spalding and Morgan Counties on the morning of the election, due to the same software “glitch” that caused Michigan votes to be miscalculated.

Law Officer Article, attached to the Declaration of James Bopp, Jr., as Exhibit 1,

<https://www.lawofficer.com/two-georgia-counties-using-same-software-of-michigan-counties-en-counter-software-glitches/>

35. Vincent Chavis, a voter from Deluth, Georgia reported to the True the Vote Validate the Vote Project Hotline (“Hotline”), that an absentee ballot was requested and submitted in his name although he voted in person and did not use an absentee ballot.

36. Shirley Bailey, a voter from Armuchee, Georgia reported to the Hotline that when she went to her local precinct to vote on November 3, she was told she had early voted when she had not done so. She was then given an absentee ballot to fill out and put in a bag, but never received confirmation this issue was resolved.

37. Wilbert Johnson, a voter in the military reported to the Hotline that he never received his requested ballot.

38. Lynn Miller, a voter from Conyers, Georgia reported to the Hotline that her mother received a ballot in the mail addressed to someone she knew to be deceased and who lived in Florida prior to her death.

39. David Shafer, the chairman of the Georgia Republican Party, reported that “Fulton County election officials told the media and the GOP observers that they were shutting down the tabulation center at State Farm Arena at 10:30p.m. on election night only to continue counting ballots in secret until 1:00a.m.”

40. Judicial Watch conducted a study in September 2020, using the most recent registration data posted by Georgia. Judicial Watch compared this data to the Census Bureau’s most recent five-year population estimates, gathered by the American Community Survey (ACS). According to this study, several counties in Georgia have voter registration lists that exceed 100% of the eligible voters in that county. These counties and their respective percentage of eligible voters according to this study include: Bryan (118%), Forsyth (114%), Dawson (113%), Oconee (111%), Fayette (111%), Fulton (109%), Cherokee (109%), Jackson (107%), Henry (106%), Lee (106%), Morgan (105%), Clayton (105%), DeKalb (105%), Gwinnett (104%), Greene (104%), Cobb (104%), Effingham (103%), Walton (102%), Rockdale (102%), Barrow (101%), and Douglas (101%). Judicial Watch Study, attached to the Declaration of James Bopp, Jr., attached as Exhibit 2, <https://www.judicialwatch.org/press-releases/new-jw-study-voter-registration/>

41. Just Facts conducted a study, using data from the Census Bureau, past surveys in which non-citizens admitted they were registered to vote and did in fact vote, and other data-driven analysis to arrive at an estimate that as many as 73,975 votes were cast for Joe Biden in Georgia by non-citizens. Just Facts Article, attached to the Declaration of James Bopp, Jr., attached as Exhibit 3, <https://www.justfactsdaily.com/quantifying-illegal-votes-cast-by-non-citizens-in-the-battleground-states-of-the-2020-presidential-election>. While Georgia requires people attest he/she is a U.S. Citizen before registering to vote in federal elections, it does not require any documentary evidence of such to be provided. Id. Non-citizens frequently obtain fraudulent documents, such as Social Security cards, and those fraudulent numbers could be used on a voter registration form, and a significant number of non-citizens have admitted to registering to vote and casting ballots in elections in states throughout the country, including Georgia. Id.

42. Defendant Brad Raffensperger has ordered all of Georgia's 159 counties to conduct a hand recount and audit of all votes cast in the presidential race, which is viewed as an "extraordinary step." See Wall Street Journal Article, attached to the Declaration of James Bopp, Jr., attached as Exhibit 4, <https://www.wsj.com/articles/georgia-orders-hand-recount-in-presidential-race-11605111529>.

43. In Georgia, among ballots that only voted for President and no other races, Joe Biden won more than 99% of those ballots (Biden: 95,801 to Trump: 818). The statistical probability against that type of imbalance happening with only ballots which were legitimately cast is astronomical. See National Pulse Article, attached to the Declaration of James Bopp, Jr., attached as Exhibit 5, <https://thenationalpulse.com/news/case-against-biden-win/>.

44. This evidence suffices to place in doubt the November 3 presidential-election results in identified counties and/or the state as a whole.

Further Evidence To Be Provided From Relevant Records

45. In addition to the foregoing evidence, Voters will provide evidence, upon information and belief, that sufficient illegal ballots were included in the results to change or place in doubt the November 3 presidential-election results. This will be in the form of expert reports based on data analysis comparing state mail-in/absentee, provisional, and poll-book records with state voter-registration databases,³ United States Postal Service (“USPS”) records, Social Security records, criminal-justice records, Georgia Department of Driver Services records, and other governmental and commercial sources by using sophisticated and groundbreaking programs to determine the extent of illegal voters and illegal votes, including double votes, votes by ineligible voters, votes by phantom (fictitious) voters, felon votes (where illegal), non-citizen votes, illegal ballot harvesting, and pattern recognition to identify broader underlying subversion of the election results. Plaintiffs have persons with such expertise and data-analysis software already in place who have begun preliminary analysis of available data to which final data, such as the official poll list, will be added and reports generated.

46. Upon information and belief, the expert report will identify persons who cast votes illegally by casting multiple ballots, were deceased, had moved, or were otherwise not qualified to vote in the November 3 presidential election, along with evidence of illegal ballot stuffing, ballot harvesting, and other illegal voting. This evidence will be shortly forthcoming when the relevant official documents are final and available, for which discovery may be required, and the result of the analysis and expert reports based thereon will show that sufficient illegal ballots were included in the results to change or place in doubt the November 3 presidential-election results.

47. Plaintiffs have no adequate remedy at law and will suffer serious and irreparable harm unless the injunctive relief requested herein is granted.

Claims

Count I

Certifying Presidential Electors Without Excluding Certain Counties Would Violate Voters' Fundamental Right to Vote by Vote-Dilution Disenfranchisement. (42 U.S.C. § 1983; U.S. Const. amends. 1 and 14)

48. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate by reference all of the allegations contained in all of the preceding paragraphs.

49. Certifying Presidential Electors without excluding certain counties would violate voters' fundamental right to vote by vote-dilution disenfranchisement.

50. The counties at issue are those identified in the Facts where sufficient illegal ballots were included in the results to change or place in doubt the November 3 presidential-election results.

51. The right to vote, with the included right to have one's vote counted, is protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments and is fundamental, Harper v. Va. State Bd. of Elections, 383 U.S. 663, 667 (1966), and well-established: "Undeniably the Constitution of the United States protects the right of all qualified citizens to vote, in state as well as in federal elections" and to have that vote counted, Reynolds v. Sims, 377 U.S. 533, 554 (1964).

52. "The right to vote can neither be denied outright, nor destroyed by alteration of ballots, nor diluted by ballot-box stuffing.” Id. at 555 (internal citations omitted). “And the right of suffrage can be denied by a debasement or dilution of the weight of a citizen’s vote just as effectively as by wholly prohibiting the free exercise of the franchise.” Id.

53. If Defendants certify presidential-election results from counties where sufficient illegal ballots were included in the results to change or place in doubt the November 3 presidential-election result, Voters valid, legal votes will be unconstitutionally diluted by illegal votes.

54. As recognized in Donald J. Trump for President v. Bullock, 2020 WL 5810556 (D. Mont. Sept. 30, 2020), individual voters have standing to bring a vote-dilution disenfranchisement claim, id. at *7 & n.4. “[T]he Supreme Court has repeatedly enumerated the principle that claims alleging a violation of the right to vote can constitute an injury in fact despite the widespread reach of the conduct at issue.” Id. at 7. See also Gill v. Whitford, 138 S. Ct. 1916, 1929 (2018) (“[A] person’s right to vote is ‘individual and personal in nature,’” so “‘voters who allege facts showing disadvantage to themselves as individuals have standing to sue’ to remedy that disadvantage” (citations omitted)). Under the generalized-grievance formulations in Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555 (1992), this claim is not a generalized grievance. Lujan said it turns on whether a plaintiff (i) is merely asserting “citizen” standing, i.e., the same claim that could be asserted by “every citizen,” and (ii) just trying to make the government do its job. Id. at 560-61. Voters don’t bring their claims under mere “citizen” standing but rather assert personal harms from the violation of their own fundamental right to vote. Their claim is particularized, challenging only what violates their rights. Their harm is not the same as for every “citizen.” “[D]enying standing to persons who are in fact injured simply because many others are also injured, would mean that the most injurious and widespread Government actions could be questioned by nobody.” United States v. SCRAP, 412 U.S. 660, 686-68 (1973); see also, FEC v. Akins, 524 U.S. 11, 24 (1998). Voters’ harm is four levels more specific than “every citizen[’s]” for their claim: (1) within “citizens” are those eligible to register as voters—only they have the potential to become registered voters; (2), within eligible voters are registered voters—only they have a right to vote; (3) within eligible, registered voters are those who actually voted—only they have a vote subject to vote-dilution disenfranchisement; and (4) within these eligible, registered, voters who actually voted are those in a jurisdiction where there are counties with evidence that sufficient illegal ballots were included in the results to change or place in doubt the results of the November 3 presidential election. Those very specific voters with a very specific claim don’t assert a generalized grievance, and they include Voters. Thus, Voters have standing.

55. As established in the Facts discussion, existing and forthcoming evidence establish that in identified counties illegal voting has occurred in connection with the presidential-election results, which establishes that Voters’ votes have been unconstitutionally diluted. So the presidential-election elections in those counties should be invalidated and not included in the certification of votes for selecting Presidential Electors.

56. The relevant standard for invalidating election results from a particular jurisdiction generally is that “the party contesting the election demonstrates an irregularity or illegality sufficient to change or place in doubt the result.” 26 Am. Jur. 2d Elections § 389 (quoting Gore v. Harris, 772 So.2d 1234 (Fla. 2000), rev’d on other grounds, Bush v. Gore, 531 U.S. 98 (2000)). “Ordinarily, an election may be contested only for matters that would impeach the fairness of the result.” Id. (citing Duncan v. McMurray, 249 S.W.2d 156 (Ky. 1952); Appeal of Soucy, 649 A.2d 60 (N.H. 1994); Fielding v. South Carolina Election Com’n, 408 S.E.2d 232 (S.C. 1991)). “An election will not be invalidated unless the party contesting the election demonstrates an irregularity or illegality sufficient to change or place in doubt the result.” Id. (citing Middleton v. Smith, 539 S.E.2d 163 (Ga. 2000)).

57. In Harris, the Florida statute included as grounds for contesting an election “Receipt of a number of illegal votes or rejection of a number of legal votes sufficient to change or place in doubt the result of the election.” 772 So.2d at 1250 (citation and emphasis omitted). Harris summarized the standard thus: “It is not enough to show a reasonable possibility that election results could have been altered by such irregularities, or inaccuracies, rather, a reasonable probability that the results of the election would have been changed must be shown.” Id. at 1255.

58. This generally recognized standard is reflected in this State’s laws. Ga. Code Ann. § 21-2-522 (West 2019) (a result of an election may be contested on the grounds that “illegal votes have been received or legal votes rejected at the polls sufficient to change or place in doubt the result”). See generally, Democratic Party of Georgia, Inc. v. Crittenden, 347 F. Supp. 3d 1324 (N.D. Ga. 2018); Parham v. Stewart, 308 Ga. 170 (2020).

59. Regarding evidence for invalidating election results in a jurisdiction, Harris established that the required showing could be made (inter alia) by “credible statistical evidence” establishing a changed election outcome “by a preponderance of a reasonable probability,” id.:

In this case, there is no credible statistical evidence, and no other competent substantial evidence to establish by a preponderance of a reasonable probability that the results of the statewide election in the State of Florida would be different from the result which has been certified by the State Elections Canvassing Commission.

60. In addition to states routinely providing for invalidating election results, including in the Presidential Electors context, the U.S. Supreme Court itself in Bush, 531 U.S. 98, required that partial recounts in some counties (that unconstitutionally employed different and unclear standards for determining voter intent) be excluded from the final count in the Florida 2000 presidential election because of the constitutional flaws identified, id. at 107-12.

61. The foregoing articulations of the standard for invalidating election results in a particular jurisdiction—including proof of reasonable probability by credible statistical evidence—should be applied here to determine whether the election results in certain counties should be excluded for purposes of certifying Presidential Electors. In some situations where election results are invalidated, a new election is ordered. See, e.g., Pabey v. Pastrick, 816 N.E.2d 1138 (Ind. 2004). But with the Electoral College scheduled to be certified by December 8 and to meet and vote on December 14, 2020, there is insufficient time for a new election in the counties involved. Moreover, the Electoral College is unique and statutory provisions provide special procedures for moving the Electoral College vote along expeditiously since the presidency is at issue. So the proper remedy here is to exclude the results from jurisdictions meeting the standard for disqualifying elections from the final results that are certified and reported for Presidential Electors.

62. Because illegal votes dilute legal votes, the evidence establishes, and will establish, that the rights of Voters have been violated by vote-dilution disenfranchisement. Consequently, the presidential-election results from the counties identified should not be included in certified and reported totals for Presidential Electors from this state.

Prayer for Relief

63. Declare that the inclusion of illegal votes in identified counties violates Voters' right to vote under the First and Fourteenth Amendment by vote-dilution disenfranchisement.

64. Declare that the proper remedy for this constitutional violation as applied to presidential-election results is to exclude presidential-election results from those counties for the Presidential Elector certification under 3 U.S.C. § 6 for this state.

65. Under that remedy, declare that there is sufficient evidence that illegal votes were counted in the identified county or counties to change or place in doubt the results of the November 3, 2020, presidential election results in contested counties, or in the state overall, so that the county's presidential-election results must be invalidated.

66. Enjoin Defendants from preparing and conducting the certification activities for Presidential Electors described in 3 U.S.C. § 6 (and applicable state law implementing the federal provision) without excluding the presidential-election results from the identified counties.

67. Award Voters their costs and attorneys fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988 and any other applicable authority; and

68. Grant any and all other such relief as this Court deems just and equitable.
